EXPERT ROUNDTABLE:

Does the World Need a Treaty on Business and Human Rights?

Co-hosted by Notre Dame Law School, United States, and Business and Human Rights Resource Centre, London

Notre Dame London Law Centre
One Suffolk Street, London

May 14, 2014, 2-5 PM

Participants:

(in alphabetical order)

Elodie Aba, Legal Researcher, Business and Human Rights Resource Centre, London

Michael Addo, Senior Lecturer, University of Exeter, specializing in business and human rights. Professor Addo is a member of the United Nations Working Group on Business and Human Rights.

Roger Alford, Associate Dean for International and Graduate Programs, and Professor of Law, Notre Dame Law School, United States, specializing in international trade, international arbitration and comparative law

Nadia Bernaz, Senior Lecturer, School of Law, Middlesex University London, specializing in business and human rights

Phil Bloomer, Executive Director, Business and Human Rights Resource Centre, London

Dr. Isabella Bunn, Rule of Law Officer, Section of International Law, American Bar Association; and Advisory Council Member, ABA Center for Human Rights

Doug Cassel, Professor of Law, Notre Dame Law School, United States, specializing in business and human rights

Rachel Chambers, Barrister and project associate on the Essex Human Rights and Business Project, University of Essex School of Law, co-author, An International Arbitration Tribunal on Business and Human Rights

Elise Groulx Diggs, attorney, Washington, D.C., Convenor of the Advisory Board of the Business and Human Rights Project of the American Bar Association Center for Human Rights

Janelle Diller, Senior Counsellor to the Deputy Director-General for Policy, International Labour Organization, Geneva

Seema Joshi, Business and Human Rights Director, Amnesty International, London

Mauricio Lazala, Deputy Director, Business and Human Rights Resource Centre, London

Sheldon Leader, Professor, School of Law, and Director, Essex Business and Human Rights Project, University of Essex

Roger Leese, Partner and pro bono coordinator, Clifford Chance, London. His practice areas are litigation and dispute resolution, with particular experience in international dispute resolution.

Stephen Lowe, Head, Business and Freedom of Expression Team, Human Rights and Democracy Development, Foreign and Commonwealth Office, United Kingdom

Adrienne Margolis, journalist, and founder and editor, Lawyers for Better Business (L4BB), co-author, An International Arbitration Tribunal on Business and Human Rights

Shanta Martin, Partner, Leigh Day law firm, London, practicing in the areas of corporate accountability, human rights, and international and group claims

Richard Meeran, Partner, Leigh Day law firm, London, practicing in the areas of corporate accountability, human rights, and international and group claims

Rocio Paniagua, Projects Advisor, Legal Projects Team, International Bar Association, London

Irene Pietropaoli, Researcher, Business and Human Rights Resource Centre, London

Chip Pitts, Lecturer in Law, Stanford Law School, specializing in international business and human rights. Professor Pitts is a former partner in the global law firm of Baker & McKenzie, and former Chief Legal Officer of Nokia, Inc.

Shirley Pouget, Programme Lawyer, International Bar Association, London. Ms. Pouget leads the IBA Task Force on Illicit Financial Flows, Poverty and Human Rights.

Andrea Saldarriaga, Lawyer and Lead, Investment and Human Rights Project, Centre for the Study of Human Rights, London School of Economics

Katherine Tyler, Barrister, Kingsley Napley law firm, London, co-author, An International Arbitration Tribunal on Business and Human Rights

Sergio Ung, Solicitor, London, former Deputy Editor, The Business and Human Rights Review, Allen & Overy